If it is not possible to establish all facts relevant for deciding on the application referred to in paragraph 1 hereof on the basis of the documentation and evidence referred to in paragraph 3 hereof, the National Bank may request from the payment institution to submit other documentation which it finds necessary.

The National Bank of Serbia shall reject the application for approval of the establishment of a branch if on the basis of submitted documents and other available information it concludes:

- 1) that the payment institution which intends to establish a branch does not have adequate organisational, technical and personnel structure or adequate financial standing to be able to provide planned payment services in a third country or it is likely, having in view such structure and financial standing, its operation through a branch would have adverse effect on the safety and stability of the segment of its operation in the Republic of Serbia;
- 2) that given the regulations of that third country or practice in the implementation of these regulations, it is likely that supervision will be hampered or prevented; or
- 3) that the payment institution which intends to establish a branch is actually trying to flout regulations and rules in force in the Republic of Serbia.

The National Bank of Serbia shall withdraw an approval issued to a payment institution for the establishment of a branch in a third country:

- 1) if the competent authority in a third country has prohibited the payment institution from providing payment services in its territory;
- 2) if the branch does not begin to operate within 12 months from the date the approval was received;
- 3) if the branch fails to perform activities covered by the approval for a period of over six months;
- 4) if the payment institution obtained the approval for the establishment of a branch based on false or incorrect data which are material for the issuance of the approval for the establishment of a branch;
- 5) if a payment institution notifies the National Bank of Serbia in writing that its branch in a third country ceased to operate;

6) if the activities of the branch are connected to money laundering or terrorism financing.

The National Bank of Serbia may withdraw an approval issued to a payment institution for the establishment of a branch in a third country:

1) if it has been established that the payment institution no longer possesses organizational, technical and personnel capacities for the services it provides;

2) if it has been established that the operation of the payment institution through a branch has an adverse effect on the safety and stability of the segment of its operation in the Republic of Serbia;

3) if the payment institution in the operation of its branch does not comply with the third country's regulations;

4) if from the territorial distribution of payment services provided it follows that the payment institution thus avoids stricter regulations and rules in force in the Republic of Serbia.

26. An electronic money institution may issue electronic money and provide payment services in a third country only through a branch.

To establish a branch in a third country, an electronic money institution shall submit to the National Bank of Serbia an application for issuing the approval in the form provided in Annex 4, listing payment services and other operations that the payment institution intends to provide and/or engage in through a branch.

Issuance and withdrawal of approval to/from an electronic money institution and provision of payment services through a branch shall be subject to provisions of Section 25 hereof.
